Corporate & Professional Workshops

CREATIVITY COMMUNICATION COLLABORATION

Improvisation (or Improv) is generally thought of as humorous entertainment, like on the TV show “Whose Line Is It Anyway?” But all of us spend most of our days improvising. The techniques of Improv can be used in the workplace to enhance your creativity, communication, and collaboration.

Based on the developmental needs and goals of your group, Jim will craft a custom workshop that will bring to life the core principles and techniques of Improv in a fun, high-energy, low-pressure session. Attendees will participate in a series of Improv “games” and learn how to incorporate Improv skills into their work and personal lives.

CLIENT COMMENTS

“Thank you for sharing your humor, expertise, insights and wisdom. Your program was the best SIM event I have ever attended!” - Larry Bonfante, CIO, US Tennis Association

“Your session was a full blown success.” - Shane York, Conference Manager, Richmond Events

“The highest ratings for variety, interest and importance of the information given. You did an exemplary job.” Fran Okeson, Education Chair, Toastmasters International District 46 Conference

HAVING AN OFFSITE MEETING?

Jim will craft a set of short Improv “Interludes” to follow lunch and meeting breaks. Tied into the theme of your meeting, these audience participation interludes will energize the group while reinforcing your meeting goals.
